

The a-priori linear-response certificate: data-starvation is the covariate behind the one failed rough-wall transfer, and the certificate detects it before any sampling

